

Dail, C., and Hart, W., 1992, Geology and gold mineralization of the Russell-Coggins District, Montgomery County, North Carolina, GSA, abs., v. 24, no. 2, p. 11, GSA, Boulder, CO.

Dickson, J., 1834, An essay on the gold region of the United States, Geol. Soc. Pa., Trans., 1, Maps coordinates: Lat. N32°04'00" - lat. N35°12'00" Long. W078°32'00" - W083°15'00" & Lat. N18°00'00" - N72°00'00" Long. W067°00'00" - E170°00'00" , pp. 16-32. <Note: abstract republished in Am. Jour. Sci., v. 27, pp. 348-351, 1835, and in the Edinburgh New Philosoph. Jour., v. 19, pp. 185-188, 1835.>

Dieffenbach, O., 1854, Beobachtungen ueber die Erz-Gaenge und das Gang-Gebirge von Nord-Carolina und den angrenzenden Staaten, Neues Jahrbuch fuer Mineralogie, Geologie und Palaeontologie, Abhandlungen, Abteilung A: Mineralogie, Petrographie, pp. 663-669, E. Schweizerbart'sche Verlagsbuchhandlung. Stuttgart, Germany.

Dover, R., and Feiss, P.G., 1985, Hydrothermally altered rhyolite flows on Lick Mountain, Montgomery County, NC; a disseminated gold prospect?, GSA, abs., v. 17, no. 2, p. 89, GSA, Boulder, CO. <Note: Georef mis-spells Albemarle as Albermarle.>

Doyle, H.A., 1990, Geophysical exploration for gold; a review, Geophysics, v. 55, no. 2, pp. 134-146, 95 refs., geological sketch map, Society of Exploration Geophysicists, Tulsa, OK. <Note: Includes induced polarization and magnetic surveys in South Carolina.>

Duckett, R.P., and Evans, P.H., 1992, Geologic control of gold mineralization as applied to daily ore control at the Kennecott Ridgeway Gold Mine, Fairfield County, South Carolina, GSA, abs., v. 24, no. 2, p. 2, Boulder, CO.

Duckett, R.P., and Gillon, K.A., 1988, Economic geology of the Ridgeway Gold Deposits, Fairfield County, S.C., in Secor, D.T., Jr., Ed., 1988, Southeastern Gold Excursions: GSA, Southeast Section, Columbia, S.C., April 4-10, 1988.

Eager, W.G., Crowe, D.E., and Mitchell, T.L., 1997, Geology and stable isotope geochemistry of the Ridgeway North Pit Deposit, Ridgeway, S.C.: evidence for a syngenetic origin, GSA, abs., v. 29, no. 3, p. 15, GSA, Boulder, CO.

Eaton, A., 1830, The gold of the Carolinas in talcose slate, American Journal of Science, 18, Map coordinates: Lat. N32°15'00" - N36°30'00" Long. W076°30'00" - W084°15'00" , pp. 50-52, Kline Geology Laboratory, Yale University, New Haven, CT.